EASTERN COLLEGE CLAIMS BEST BASEBALL SCHEDULE

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

Manassas, Va., February 21.—The best and most attractive baseball schedule of any small college in the South has just been completed by Manager Joseph J. McGivney and ratified by the Eastern College Athletic Association. It consists of thirty-three games, sixteen of which are home grounds and seventeen on foreign. The team will take an extensive Southern trip, one to New York, one through Maryland, one to Washington, Va., and four one-day trips to Washington.

On the schedule are such games as Georgetown University, Fordham University (two games), Virginia Polytechnic Institute (two games), Trinity College (two games), A. & M. College of North Carolina, and a number of other leading college teams of the South.

The season will open March 22 on the home grounds, with Maryland Agricultural College, and will be followed the next day with Fordham. A trio of commencement games will be played with the Frederick, Md., team.

The outlook for a winning aggregation at the present time is considered to be very bright. Indoor work will be commenced within a few days. It will consist of the workout of the battery candidates. As soon as the weather will permit Coach Sparrow will call out the men for the infield and outfield positions.

ROUNDING BASEBALL SQUAD INTO SHAPE

Director Lannigan Having Busy Time With Applicants for Positions on Team.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

Charlottesville, Va., February 21.—With the opening of the playing season less than a month off, Director Lannigan is busy rounding the Virginia baseball squad into shape for the strenuous games ahead.

At present about sixty men are practicing daily in the cage, where much attention is being given to developing their batting eyes. They are drilled in the proper way to stand at the plate and swing in place hitting and in hitting.

The infielders are drilled in footwork, fielding and throwing.

Fifteen men are applicants for pitcher, seven of whom are left-handers and Mr. Lannigan is devoting much attention to getting their arms properly conditioned. They are not allowed to use curves in the cage, but they are coached in the use of control, the angle of delivering and change of pace.

Mr. Lannigan expects to have the men out on the field to-day, if the recent warm weather allows the ground to dry sufficiently. Two diamonds will be used to practice on, and it is thought that the lower one will be in good condition within a few days.

Games at Home.

VIRGINIA IS MAKING NO FOOTBALL PLANS

Future of Sport Not Yet Determined—May Play Georgetown and Carolina—Considering Game With Carlisle Indians.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

Charlottesville, Va., February 21.—Manager McDonald, of the Virginia football team, could not be located to-night, but a close follower of athletics at the university ventured the prophecy that should the football be played at Virginia and Georgetown next fall the annual game between these two institutions would be arranged as usual. A member of the advisory board of the General Athletic Association when seen to-night said that plans for football were at a standstill, and that nothing definite would be done until some time in March. He admitted that the question of playing the Carlisle Indians had come up before the board, but stated in the same breath that such matters

WOLGAST AND NELSON ARE READY FOR BATTLE

San Francisco, Cal., February 21.—Battling Nelson and A. D. Wolgast, who will box for the lightweight championship to-morrow afternoon at Richmond, on the eastern shore of San Francisco Bay, have ceased training, and are ready for the timekeeper's signal to start them on their forty-five-round contest. Each fighter expressed himself to-night as certain of victory, and the consensus of opinion of fight followers presages a contest that will make ring history. Wolgast, the victor of the Carlisle Indians, is extremely bitter, and there is no question that the battle will carry with it more than the usual heat of pugilistic combat. Nelson and Wolgast are well under the requirement of 133 pounds, ring-

ORTH WILL PITCH FOR INDIANAPOLIS

"Curveless Wonder" Signs Contract to Play With Hoosier Team.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

Lynchburg, Va., February 21.—Al Orth, known as the "Curveless Wonder," for years one of the leading pitchers of the major leagues, and who managed the local Virginia League team a portion of last year, to-day accepted the terms of Manager Carr, of Indianapolis, who wired he had mailed a contract. Orth is to pitch for the Hoosier team, and will get himself into shape at once.

Orth began his professional career here in 1885, going to the Philadelphia Nationals, where he remained until he jumped to the Washington Americans, who later sold him to the New York Americans. Until 1908 his record had always been good. He is confident he will pitch winning ball in the American Association.

CLAIMS TO BE PREP. SCHOOL CHAMPION

Jefferson School Satisfied With Its Basketball Record.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

Charlottesville, Va., February 21.—By defeating Woodberry Forest quint by the score of 19 to 9 this afternoon in the Fayerweather gymnasium at the University, the Jefferson School, of this city, claims the prep school basketball championship of the State. The contest was nip and tuck, and was marked by much rough playing. For Jefferson, Petram was the star. He kept his opponent from landing a single goal. F. Gooch and Moomaw also did good work. Hanes and Spencer did the best playing for Woodberry.

The junior teams of the two schools also clashed, the victory going to Jefferson by the score of 13 to 13. The work of Page, Balthus and W. Gooch stood out prominently, while Robertson and Catlett shone for Woodberry. Robertson tossed four difficult goals.

VIRGINIA DEFEATS WASHINGTON & LEE

In Fast and Rough Game University Wins by Score of 51 to 7.

Charlottesville, Va., February 21.—Virginia's quiet smothered defeat on thick to-night in the game with Washington and Lee, avenging the Lexingtonian's victory of two weeks ago by the score of 51 to 7. The game was a fast and rough one, and the visitors would never be in the running, as Virginia showed the best form of the season, fighting all the way and using fine team work. Washington and Lee scored only one goal from the floor, the accuracy of Captain Boyd in shooting fouls tallying the other points.

Goals for Virginia, was wonderfully agile, while playing guard, scoring more goals than either forward, and preventing his opponent from registering a shot. Spencer was in fine fettle, an Captain May's accuracy was responsible for five goals, one of his one-hand aims from a difficult angle, winning much applause. Cecil was seen in nearly every hard scrimmage, and Jones landed five goals after Cecil had dribbled the ball to him.

Captain Boyd played superbly. Play was fast and rough, Virginia having the advantage in both respects. The line-up: Virginia—Spratt, forward; May, captain, right forward; H. Jones, Duane, center; Cecil, left guard; Kearns, Christian, left guard; Washington and Lee—Boyd (captain), Burke, left forward; Hanes, Stein, right forward; Osborne, Boyd, center; Craig, Humphreys, right guard; Glasgow, left guard.

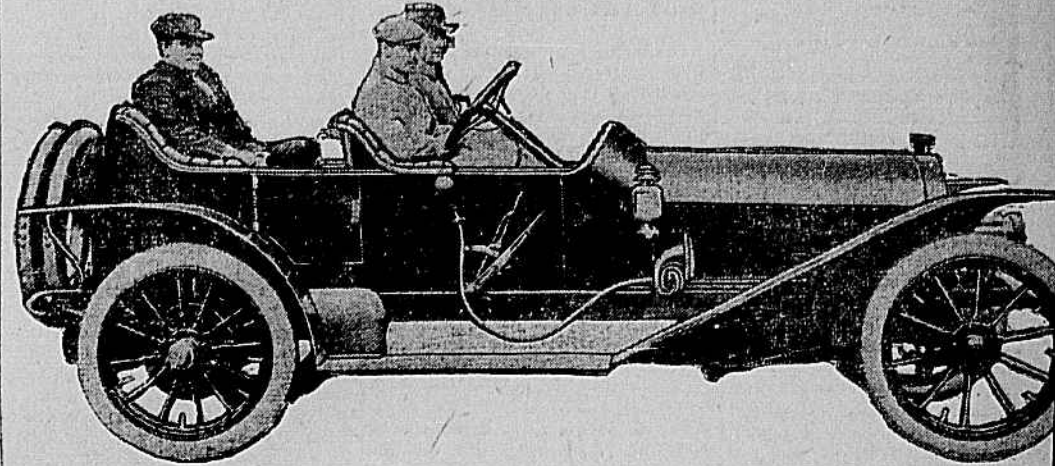

Goals—Spratt, 4; May, 5; Jones, 5; Kearns, Cecil, 3; Duane, 3; Glasgow, 1. Goals from fouling—Boyd, 4; Hanes, 1; May, 5; Robertson, 1; Williams.

Orth Goes to Indianapolis.

Lynchburg, Va., February 21.—Al Orth, who pitched fourteen years for the major leagues, beginning with the Philadelphia Nationals in 1885, when he was sold by Lynchburg, to-day came to terms with Indianapolis, in the American Association, and he will pitch for that team.

"DOLLY" GRAY SIGNS FOR COMING SEASON

Contract Reached President Noyes, of Washington Club, Yesterday Morning.

Washington, February 21.—Another twister came into the Washington fold this morning in "Dolly" Gray, the California southpaw. "Dolly's" contract was in President Noyes's mail this morning, and it came all the way from Lagoon Bay, Cal., wherever that may be. Gray has been wintering well, and says that he has taken on considerable weight. Continuing, he says in the letter accompanying the contract:

"My work last season was not at all satisfactory to me, and I am sure did not create a sensation in the American League. The only game in which I worked with anything like my Pacific coast form was against the Detroit in the eighteen-inning battle. At that time I thought I was hitting my stride, but I immediately fell back into the old rut."

"The coming season I will be more familiar with the opposing batters, and I am sure my record will be many points above that of last year. I will be there for the spring trip, as I am dead stuck taking that boat ride down the Potomac."

Gray should be in splendid shape right now, as he has been pitching out on the coast all winter at the rate of one game a week. If Gray should be able to deliver his Pacific coast goods in the Eastern states, he will surely be a winner this season.

With the termination of the schedule meetings of both leagues last week, the fans from now on will be treated to something more substantial than mere baseball legislation. The National League magnates who favored the extended or 158-game schedule did hard in obedience to the public demand as voiced through the newspapers, they agreed to the 154-game schedule, but instead of adopting it gracefully, they showed their feeling by plastering it over the entire playing season, or rather the term of the players' contract. Under this condition it will be impossible to start the playing of the series for the world's championship until October 17, which championship will detract from the public interest in the series. There was not the slightest reason for this childish action. It is the manifestation of a small, narrow-minded, unimportant place in the game, which should have no place in such a broad-gauged sport as baseball. There is not the slightest chance for any of the advocates of the long schedule to try to justify their action on the ground that it was done for the best interests of the league. It looks as though they were animated by a desire to punish Barney Dreyfus, of Pittsburgh, who they think must have the coming season's pennant clinched, or else they thought by scheduling the games to the very close of the season, they would force the public in some way or other they were not being dominated by Ban Johnson. It would not be a

SOUTHERN LEAGUE TO OPEN APRIL

Dates and Other Matters Agreed on by Baseball Magnates.

Atlanta, Ga., February 21.—Baseball will have its official opening in South on April 14, according to mandate of the magnates of the Southern Association of Baseball Clubs. Their regular spring meeting this city to-day, New Orleans, how was granted the privilege of opening day sooner, at home with Mobil account of the Shriners' convention.

While the meeting this afternoon was of an executive nature, it stated there was no wrangling over the playing schedule, as a subcommittee of the schedule committee, the rule finally was adopted with a minor change as to Sunday dates at Memphis and New Orleans. The schedule shows a mileage reduction of 16,000 miles as compared to last year.

Uniform tickets were adopted by entire league, and the game guarantee was raised from $75 to $100.

The question of the various furnishing and maintaining of clubhouses for visiting teams was deferred. Atlanta, Chattanooga and Mobile being the only clubs to favor change.

A resolution was adopted providing that when waivers are asked on or after they are to be kept strictly confidential until the player is claimed or released. Birmingham waivers on Outfielder Hogan 3 day; New Orleans on Barrenham Tesser, and Chattanooga on Sch. To-night the visiting magnates entertained at a banquet by Pre Heisman, of the Atlanta club.

NORFOLK DEFENDS AMATEUR UMPIRE

Belief Is That Bradley's Protest Will Be Ignored by League Magnates.

The announcement in The Times-Dispatch of yesterday that Owner Bradley of the Richmond team, will protest against the appointment of Henderson D. Travis, of Cape Charles, Va., as a member of the Virginia League staff, has caused the Norfolk newspapers to look up and take notice. It must be remembered that Mr. Consovo, of the Norfolk team, recommended Travis before his appointment.

"By some of the knowing ones it is said that Owner Bradley's reasons for opposing the appointment of Henderson Travis as umpire in the Virginia League have a selfish motive. He is reported that the Richmond magnate does not look with favor on the appointment of the Cape Charles man because he is an amateur. Those who are keeping tabs on the inner workings of the league declare there are other motives behind the opposition. Some say that Owner Bradley still wants to run the whole league, umpires and all, while there are others who opine that he is really trumping up something with which he can fight those who may attempt to adopt a rule at the coming meeting of the league that will prevent Richmond admitting people to the grounds for 10 cents."

It is said that Norfolk is one of the cities that is strongly opposed to the 10-cent gate, and also the schedule proposed by Mr. Bradley, and now that Norfolk has recommended an umpire the Richmond mogul sees a chance to get back and will use his protest against the appointment of Mr. Travis as a club on Norfolk and other teams that do not see things as he does in order to bring them around to his way of thinking. This may seem a small thing for the owner of a baseball club to do, but it is persistently rumored, and the rumor has gained credence.

"But despite Mr. Bradley's opposition to the appointment of Umpire Travis, it is believed that he will handle the indicator in the Virginia League this season. The Cape Charles man has been appointed by President Dreyfus, and it is believed that he will give him a good reason for recalling that appointment it is not
